Review & Commentary 4Q2025

U.S. markets enter 2026 on a strong note. Fourth-quarter equity performance reflected improving sentiment and growing confidence in the Federal Reserve's ability to achieve a soft landing, even as data signaled moderating growth and labor market softness. The Value factor outperformed other factors for the quarter. Value's outperformance has continued into the first 3 weeks of 2026 and the Size (small) factor has also started to significantly outperform. Continued progress on inflation could pave the way for additional rate cuts in 2026, though the timing and pace of easing will depend on how quickly employment stabilizes. Small-cap companies could benefit from lower borrowing costs and more attractive relative valuations (see below) as investors position for a more supportive policy backdrop.

Tariff policy remains an important market variable, with uncertainty around implementation and trade negotiations likely to fuel short-term volatility. Global trade disruptions may challenge multinationals while their balance sheet strength and global reach may provide resilience. In Europe, stronger manufacturing activity and improving domestic demand have sustained moderate growth, while inflation near the European Central Bank's 2% target allows policy makers to maintain a patient, data-driven approach. Looking ahead, stable inflation and cautious monetary policy coupled with compelling valuations relative to U.S. equities, supported by stabilizing economic trends and steady central bank policy could provide a solid foundation for continued recovery across the euro zone.

Fixed income markets remain sensitive to inflation data and central bank communication. With the Fed maintaining a measured approach, yields may hold relatively steady in the near term, though markets anticipate additional cuts by year-end. Credit spreads tightened in Q4 but could widen if economic data weakens or trade tensions re-emerge. Core bonds should continue to offer stability and income within diversified portfolios, while high-yield and emerging market debt may benefit if rates decline and investors seek additional yield.

Disclosures

1. At Wallick Investments, at least 70% of our asset allocation and equity (stock) factor exposure decisions are made strategically, i.e., for the long-term. 2. Our clients' strategic asset allocations are based upon an individual client's risk tolerance and time horizon.
3. Our security-selection decisions are made based on non-emotional, bottom-up factor-based processes that have shown to out-perform the overall market on a risk-adjustment basis over the long-term.
4. Wallick Investments, LLC is a fee only South Carolina Registered Investment Advisory firm founded in June 2005 and began claiming GIPS® compliance in July 2012 for performance starting in April 2008 and ending December 2022. ## Wallick Investments' Composite & Model performance conclusions:

In 4Q2025, international markets outperformed US markets. Large-Cap equity outperformed Small-Cap, and Value outperformed Growth. Generally, the Value factor was the strongest equity factor, and Minimum Volatility was the weakest. Fidelis had positive results against its benchmarks and peers over the last quarter, and has generally outperformed over the long-term.

Investing themes come in and out of favor, but over the long term, the factors Quality, Value and Momentum stand out. We continue to have the utmost confidence in our investment processes and believe these factors reward patient investors. Our conviction is supported by an abundance of academic research, historical performance, and a rush to create new “factor-based” ETF products.

Wallick Investments' Strategic Moral Investing Commentary

Wallick Investments' stock-selection processes integrate faith-based values and investment science. The biggest concern with such a strategy is what might be given up in investment performance; most studies suggest very little. To evaluate the cost or benefit of our faith-based screening, we monitor two benchmarks: the S&P 500 Catholic Values Index (CATH), which utilizes only a moral negative screening strategy of the S&P 500; and the Inspire 500 ETF (PTL), a portfolio of the largest 500 companies from the S&P 500 which have positive Inspire Impact scores. The results below show how the S&P 500 Catholic Values Index and the Inspire 500 ETF have performed relative to the iShares Core S&P 500. We have also included how our Excelsis strategy has performed again the iShares Core S&P 500 ETF.

	3 mo.	1-yr.	3-yr.	5-yr.
S&P 500 Catholic Values ETF (CATH) v. iShares Core S&P 500 ETF (IVV)	-0.77	-0.77	-0.84	-0.95
Inspire 500 ETF (PTL)/Inspire 100 (BIBL)* v. iShares Core S&P 500 ETF (IVV)	-2.82	0.07	-7.16*	-5.65*
WI Excelsis v. iShares Core S&P 500 ETF (IVV)	0.46	8.43	-4.37	0.15

Performance data as of 12/31/2025

Wallick Investments' Strategic Moral Investing conclusion:

Faith-based investments' ability to outperform their benchmarks, and the performance deviation for screened vs. non-screened benchmarks (see above) is due primarily to a smaller allocation to Large-Cap companies. Wallick Investments' position on strategic moral investing is that sound investment processes tapping a smaller, yet still diverse pool of companies striving to be forces for true good, should not compromise performance materially over the average investment cycle (approximately 7 years). However, with a significantly smaller Large-Cap universe from which to select securities, a Large-Cap faith-based approach may trail Large-Cap indexes over prolonged periods.

Key data points for Tactical Allocation adjustments

Although a smaller percentage of our decisions are tactical, we believe it is important enough to share our views. Unless otherwise noted in this presentation, all performance for periods greater than 1 year are annualized. Composite performance is the actual average asset-weighted return of all accounts managed according to a set strategy. Model performance is the performance of a hypothetical account. It does not represent performance of an actual account or account(s). Although Goldman Sachs, Inc. client accounts may be subscribed to managed models, actual performance will vary due to timing of portfolio changes and tax considerations.

Note: Economic data for December delayed due to government shutdown.

What does the data that we monitor regularly, and which we believe to be most important in foreseeing economic conditions, currently say?

- The Conference Board Leading Economic Index (LEI) declined by 0.3% in November 2025 and fell by 1.2% over the past 6 months. The six-month reading indicates economic contraction.
- The Chicago Fed National Activity Index (CFNAI) was -0.04 for November 2025 and -0.23 for the three month moving average, indicating close to average economic activity.

The contribution of each of the major index categories were as follows:

0.08	Production
-0.07	Employment contributed
-0.02	Personal consumption contributed
-0.03	Sales, Orders and Inventories contributed

- The week ending January 16, 2026, the National Financial Conditions Index (NFCI) was -0.59. Negative values indicate looser credit conditions—a hallmark of more buoyant financial conditions.

Inspire Fidelis ETF*

replicating Fidelis 100 Index receives prestigious
5-Star
Morningstar
Rating<sup>TM</sup>

After successfully managing a multi-cap, multi-factor faith-based separate account composite for over 10 years, Wallick Institutional launched Fidelis 100 (WI Fidelis Multi-Cap Multi-Factor Index) March 17, 2022. Fidelis 100 index integrates Inspire Investing's revolutionary faith-based impact scores with our multi-factor-based methodology for equity selection. Inspire Fidelis Multi Factor ETF, with a mandate to replicate Wallick Investments' Fidelis 100 Index, has received a 5-Star Morningstar Rating<sup>TM</sup> for 3 year risk-adjusted performance out of 588 US Small-Cap Blend funds as of 12/31/25. Inspire Fidelis Multi Factor ETF (ticker: FDLS) with over $100M in assets and an annualized 3-year return of 16.65% as of 12/31/25, is a product of Inspire Investing, the world's largest provider of faith-based ETFs with over $2 billion in total AUM.

As of December 31, 2025, Wallick Investments also eliminates from consideration all companies non-compliant with Altum Faithful Investing screens at the time of equity selection for the Fidelis 100 Index. Fidelis 100 Index is honored to be Altum Gold Certified.

*Since August 2022, the FDLS ETF has been WI Fidelis composite's only holding. With the advent of the FDLS ETF based on our investment methodology, maintaining a GIPS® compliant composite to track composite performance was no longer necessary. Therefore, after December 31, 2022, Wallick Investments dropped our claim to GIPS compliant investment performance. Historical performance of our WI Fidelis separate account will remain on our website by accessing the 3Q2022 Portfolio Review. Going forward, "WI Fidelis Strategy" performance is this historical separate account performance through August 2022 with a transition to the Inspire Fidelis Multi-Factor ETF performance. The Inspire Fidelis ETF is an exciting development for our clients and provides national and international access to our faith and factor Fidelis investment strategy.
